John Felix, Robbed Last Time of $50,000, Tells an Amazing Story of His Career as a Gambler, Both in This Country and Europe.

HE AND HIS WIFE PLANNED SUICIDE AFTER SWINDLE.

Now, However, He Will Sue to Recover Big Sums Alleged to Have Been Lost in Ludlum's and Another Gambling House-Prisoners Are Indicted.

The career for the last few years of John Felix, the wealthy German manufacturer, who was swindled out of $50,000 in the most elaborate tapping scheme ever planned, has been as amazing as the fraud by he was duped out of a fortune. Before coming to New York from the h quarters of his business in Cologne, a year ago, he lost $100,000 at 3 Carlo, and before he was victimized by the "wire-tappers" he lost $35,000 Lou Ludium's gambling-house in West Fortleth street, and $11,000 in gambling-house run by a man named Freeman in West Thirty-eighth street Mr. Felix admits that he has been a familiar figure for years in th most notorious gambling places of Europe, but declares that until he came to New York he always had a run for his money. He has still a large to tune left and says he will sue Ludium and Freeman to recover the th Beats Out Rachel Ward and and he lost in their resorts. Mr. Felix said to-day that for several days after he was swindled-he met the 'wire tappers' last Thursday both he and his wife made up their minds to commit suicide. In the case of Mrs. Felix, the manufacturer said to-day, had he arrived home a few minutes later than he did on Sunday night, she would have been dead. He found her overcome by gas, having carefully planned to end her life.

When facing the two prisoners in the Jefferson Market Court to-day Folix declared that he had abandoned his idea of suicide and was going to make a desperate effort to recover the money he has lost.
